Project Description 1/3

Applications should describe the research/project in enough detail to allow informed assessment by the 2024 Indigenous SRC Distinction Fund Review Committee members. Since not all Committee members will have an intimate knowledge of the subject matter of all proposals, the proposal must avoid jargon and highly technical content.

The project description must include:

Objectives - The specific nature of the SRC activity to be funded. As preference will be given to a project which has Indigenous community or research partnership(s) and/or addresses issues of significance to Indigenous peoples in an urban context and/or is working with Indigenous undergraduate and/or graduate student(s), please ensure that the project description addresses these preferences, if applicable.

Context - A brief literature review to situate the project, its relevance and its potential contributions.

Methodology* - The methodology or theoretical approach to be employed, analysis strategies and data sovereignty considerations.

Timeline - The time period within which the work will be undertaken.

Knowledge Mobilization and Anticipated Outcomes 1/1

There should be a clear indication of the expected outcome(s) of the proposed SRC activity (e.g., publications, presentations, student training, preliminary stage of a large project, community engagement initiatives/outreach, etc.), including where appropriate, how the proposed SRC activity will prepare the applicant for future externally funded applications.

Budget and Justification 1/1

Proposed Budget: An itemized budget explaining the relationship of the funds requested to the proposed SRC activity. Attach at least one quote for expenses valued at more than $5,000 before taxes.

Note on eligible expenses: Funds can be used only for research-related costs, including costs related to Indigenous community or research partnership(s) and those that conform to the university's guidelines regarding pay and benefit rates and allowable expenses.
